Khrush Furious After Stinging Rebuff in U.N.

Assembly Refuses To Heed Threat Of Rocket Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, set back by a steamroller vote in the United Nations on disarmament, risked another defeat today on his cherished charge of "American aggressive actions."

The Soviet chief appeared to be gripped by an almost apoplectic fury when the disarmament vote went heavily against him. He openly talked of rockets and war.

Time is running out for him — unless he changes his mind about flying back to Moscow Thursday night.

He has been beaten down repeatedly in the General Assembly the latest setback coming Tuesday night in spite of a raging, threatening speech demanding that disarmament be debated at once by the Assembly without preliminary committee consideration.

The 99-nation assembly voted 54-13 with 31 abstentions against Khrushchev's demand. Then it voted 61-12 with 24 abstentions to debate the issue in the Political Committee. Voting with the Soviet bloc on the first question were Afghanistan, Mali and fellow-traveling Guinea and Cuba. Afghanistan abstained on the second vote.

Today the Assembly discussed Soviet demands to bypass committee consideration of two more Soviet resolutions. The U.N. Steering Committee has recommended that both be debated by the Political Committee before they come to the assembly.

One resolution charges the United States with aggressive actions against the Soviet Union, menacing world peace. It is based on the America U2 plane shot down over Soviet territory and the RB47 shot down off the north coast of the Soviet Union.

The other calls for a declaration by the assembly that all "colonial countries and peoples" should be granted independence immediately. In an earlier speech Khrushchev said all peoples should have immediate freedom regardless of whether they are ready for it.

Khrushchev claimed the assembly's debate on where disarmament should be debated first.

His first statement was quiet and reasoned. As expected, he urged a special summit session of the Assembly be convened, somewhere in Europe and early in 1961, to discuss disarmament alone. He said American preoccupation with the presidential election precludes the United States from assuming "any new important obligations" on disarmament.

Western delegates opposed this proposition. Hours later Khrushchev suddenly demanded the rostrum again.

He lumbered onto the dais and began to storm.

He seemed to take the position that the West was trying to frighten him.

"We won't be bullied. We won't be scared," he thundered. "If you want to compete with us in the armaments race, we will beat you at that. Our rockets come out like sausages from the machine. Do you want to try us out?"

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev is reported canceling a planned visit to Cuba—at this time—mainly because he fears it would backfire against the Soviet Union everywhere in Latin America.

Soviet security chiefs are also understood to have warned Khrushchev that mounting unrest and anti-Communist plotting in Cuba might imperil his personal safety.

Stryker Man Killed On Indiana Toll Road

LAGRANGE, Ind. (AP)—Ralph A. Ruppert, 30, Stryker, Ohio was killed early today in a collision of two semi-trailer trucks on the Indiana toll road.

State police said Ruppert was crushed by a load of glass on his own truck, as the truck struck the rear of another driven by Henry N. Schultz, 55, Springfield, Mo. Schultz was not injured.

No New Clues In Bank Robbery

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation continued its search today for two armed men who robbed the Scioto Bank at Commercial Point at about noon yesterday.

The unidentified men escaped with $5,515 after locking two bank employees in a back room. The men were described as 40-45 years old.

Miller Beckett, 77, one of the bank employees, said one robber wore a blue suit and the other a brown one. Both had on green sunglasses.

Beckett said one of the men appeared to weigh about 165 pounds and was about 5-10 in height. He said the other was shorter and lighter.

THE sheriff's department picked up a valuable lead yesterday when an abandoned car was found on Canal Road near Lockbourne.

Anti-U.S. Leader Murdered in Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A fanatic right-wing student today assassinated the Socialist party chairman, Inejiro Asanuma, an avowed friend of Communist China and the militant leader of Japanese opposition to the U. S.-Japan alliance.

The assassin, a slender Otaya Yamaguchi, 17, stabbed Asanuma twice with a foot-long sword as Asanuma spoke to a political forum on clean campaign practices. Members of the audience hurled the youth to the floor and

Plane Found, Pilot Missing After Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Fargo, N. D. flier forced down at sea off Wake Island in a single-engine plane is missing and a search is under way, the Coast Guard was advised today.

Another Fargo flier safely landed his single-engine plane at Wake. The two were attempting a nonstop flight from Oakland, Calif., to Manila.

The Coast Guard, relaying reports received in San Francisco from a search rescue coordination on Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands said a Coast Guard crash boat, after earlier being rebuffed by reefs, took in tow the plane in which Lt. Duane Stirling, 27, went down Tuesday night about three miles north of Wake.

Stirling was not in the plane. A pinpoint of light during the night in the same area might have been from a flashlight carried by Stirling. A search of the area was negative.

Charles Finnegan, 30, landed on Wake.

The two had been in the air more than 30 hours and were past the halfway mark of their effort.

Arthur A. Ballantine, Former FDR Aide, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—The former Under-Secretary of the Treasury under President Franklin D. Roosevelt—77-year-old Arthur A. Ballantine—died at his home here Monday, one-time head of Oberlin College, one-time head of Oberlin College, Ballantine served in a number of appointive government posts. He was awarded the distinguished public service certificate of award by the Navy in 1948 for the compilation of the Ballantine Report revising the procedures of Naval courts.

Sailor Defies Soviet Officials Who Urge He Return to Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—The young Estonian sailor who fled Soviet Premier Khrushchev's own ship has defied Soviet diplomats who urged him to return.

Victor Jaanimets, 23, described the dramatic confrontation at immigration headquarters Tuesday.

"At first I refused to see them, but inasmuch as they requested once more to see me I said I would talk to them," he said.

"Both of them asked me whether I was forced to make my decision. I told them, 'No. Nobody forced me. I made my decision a long time ago.'"

"They said 'So in other words this is your will, your wish.' They said every Soviet citizen has the

Kennedy Sticks By Stand on Quemoy, Matsu

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today defended his policy on Quemoy and Matsu in a sidewalk interview on his way to have breakfast with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Democratic presidential candidate was accompanied along the way by William Vanden Heuvel, Democratic candidate for Congress from Manhattan's 17th District.

Vanden Heuvel disclosed to reporters that he had sent a telegram to Secretary of State Christian Herter asking for confirmation of a report that the State Department is negotiating with the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa for withdrawal of troops and civilians from Quemoy and Matsu, tiny islands off the Chinese Communist coast.

Vanden Heuvel said that Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., had said in a debate with him Monday night that he and other members of Congress had been informed the department's policy was to urge a Nationalist withdrawal from the offshore islands.

Kennedy reiterated his stand that the offshore islands had been declared strategically indefensible by top military leaders and that the United States should not risk a world war by committing itself to their defense.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon on Kennedy's Republican opponent for the presidency, as called this a policy on the road to war and surrender.

The dispute between Kennedy and Nixon over the defense of Quemoy and Matsu erupted in their second TV debate last week.

Nixon said he completely disagreed with Kennedy and made fresh attacks on Kennedy's position in speeches out West Tuesday.

Kennedy meanwhile said "one of the great political myths of our time" is an assumption of an inevitable conflict between the Democratic party and business-men.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says the surrender of Quemoy and Matsu "would be a serious mistake and an act of weak appeasement."

The former Ohio governor took issue with Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, in volunteering a statement on Quemoy-Matsu Tuesday night to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lausche also is a member of the committee.

The dispute stemmed from the nationally televised debate between presidential candidates Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy last Friday night in Washington.

Kennedy the Democratic candidate, said the two small islands off the coast of China are "useless militarily and probably hard to defend and that no defense line should be drawn there. His argument was called "woolly thinking" by Nixon, who said the free world should defend the islands as a matter of principle.

Nixon's position was described as "very risky and probably unjustified" by Fulbright, who said it would enable the communists to maneuver us into an unpopular, unjustified war.

"If Quemoy and Matsu are unimportant and not worth of defense, why does Red China so avidly want them?" Lausche asked in his statement.

Driver Injured In Car Crash

Dana Gheen, 43, Columbus, suffered multiple injuries at 5:20 p.m. yesterday when his car crashed off Route 22 about six miles west of Circleville.

Gheen was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment of a fractured collarbone, fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

Gheen said he was headed west. His auto crashed off the left side of the highway, rolled over and struck a fence.

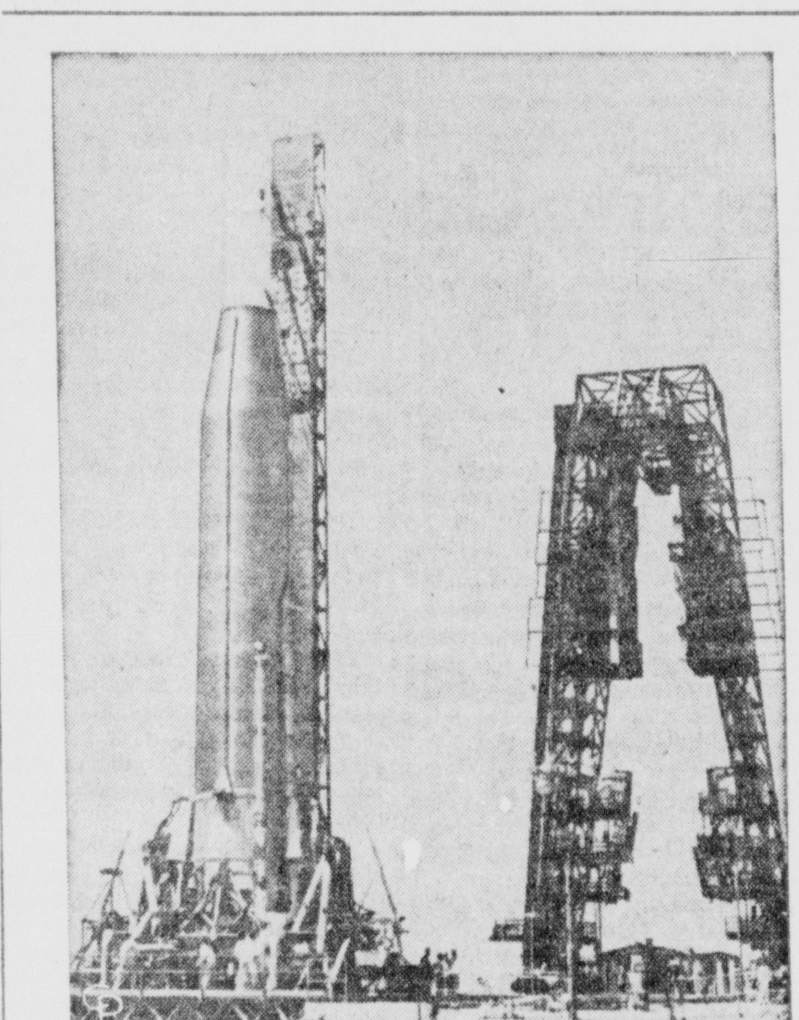

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the car was demolished.

Three Pickets Fined For Violating Order

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Three pickets face fines of $100 each on charges of violating a court peace order in the United Auto Workers union strike at Philip Carey Co. in Middletown.

Judge P. P. Boli set the penalty Tuesday in Common Pleas Court and ordered a limit of three pickets at the plant main gate and two pickets each at other entrances.

Study Finds 'Scare Campaigns' Do Not Cut Traffic Accidents

CLEVELAND (AP)—The grisly photograph, the statistics that compute your chances of being killed in traffic by sundown of a holiday—these and other tools in traffic safety "scare campaigns" don't reduce accidents, an expert reported today.

Dr. James L. Malfetti, executive officer of the safety research and education project at Columbia University, reported some of his findings in an address to the 58th annual convention of the American Automobile Association.

"We have found so far no instance in which scare campaigns in traffic safety have reduced accidents," Dr. Malfetti said, "and we have some evidence that they may do more harm than good."

The Columbia project, financed with a $100,000 grant from the AAA, conducted a study of Cleveland teen-age traffic violators and non-violators to determine psychological differences between the two groups. Among things found Dr. Malfetti said, were that the violators, compared with the non-violators, were:

1. More inclined to impulsive behavior and action inconsiderate of others.
2. Subject to more conflicts or maladjustments in their family life.
3. More irresponsible and rebellious and less conforming to the demands of society.
4. More shy, secretive, hypersensitive and easily embarrassed and had more trouble making friends and meeting problems squarely.
5. Less economically independent.
6. More easily depressed and more pessimistic and lacking in self-confidence.
7. More indifferent to safety in driving a car and safety in general.
8. Children of parents less active in political and other civic affairs of the community.

In a panel discussion Tuesday, participants agreed the idea central business districts are doomed to strangulation by growing traffic in jail.

The ruling came after Police Chief Dewey T. Schultz told the council of numerous complaints of cats causing disturbances. He said he found 27 cats in one home.

U.S. 'Spy-in-Sky' Fails To Orbit

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—The United States' first spy-in-the-sky rocket failed to orbit—for reasons being sought today by Air Force scientists with only meager clues.

Project officials announced that the first in the series of Samos satellites radioed back a few messages of its performance Tuesday, then disappeared.

It was to be the forerunner of satellites equipped with scanning gear so sensitive they are expected to take pictures or TV shots better than photos made from the U2 reconnaissance plane.

Yankees Try Ford To Tie Up Series

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh can wrap up its first world championship since 1925 today by beating the desperate New York Yankees in the sixth World Series game at spacious Forbes Field.

Bob Friend, winner of 18 games in the regular season but a loser to the Yanks in the second game, was Manager Danny Murtaugh's choice to complete the gallant comeback by the fighting Bucs. Everybody on the staff, except Vern Law, was available for bullpen duty.

Casey Stengel leaned toward Whitey Ford, his experienced lefty, to bail out the Yanks in their backs-to-the-wall situation. Ford pitched a shutout Saturday. Bob Turley, well rested since whipping the Pirates last Thursday, also was primed for duty, along with the rest of the staff.

Stengels lineup was subject to last-minute changes. He was expected to play Yogi Berra in left field, Cleto Boyer on third base and Elston Howard as catcher. If Stengel used Ford Murtaugh would shift from catcher Smokey Burgess to Hal Smith.

Fair, warm weather was on tap, with the temperature due to hit 75 by the time the crowd of 37,000 had settled down in the ancient ball park.

The Pirates were favored at 4-1 to win the series, although the Yankees were picked at 6-5 for today's game.

If the Yankees square the series, the seventh game will be played in the same park Thursday afternoon with Lou pitting for the Pirates ad rookie Bill Stafford the likely starter for the Yanks.

Mickey Mantle, who needed only one more home to match Babe Ruth's all-time series record of 15, was hobbled by a recurrence of the groin injury he suffered in late season. Mantle took a few cuts Tuesday when the club worked out after the Pirates' drill but did not run.

The Yankees appeared grimly determined to get back into this series with big money riding on every pitch.

"My men are not dead," said Stengel. "We may not talk too much but we're pretty good, too. We've been going at a pretty good speed for a month—until the last two games. I hope we're a little alive for you."

Pro-Lumumba Crowd Stones White Drivers

ELOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Scores of Patrice Lumumba's supporters, barred from visiting the deposed premier at his guarded residence, took out their anger on white motorists in this tense capital today.

Europeans driving by Lumumba's luxurious villa ran into a hail of stones from a crowd of Congolese massed in the area. No damages or serious injuries were reported in these and other sporadic incidents, but hostility toward white residents apparently was on the rise.

While opposing soldiers faced each other around the Lumumba residence, the Congo's ruling government commission pondered the next move in its efforts to arrest the ousted premier.

The commission Tuesday threatened an army uprising unless U. N. forces hand over Lumumba.

Find No Evidence Starlings Caused Crash of Electra

BOSTON (AP)—The turboprop Electra which plunged into Boston harbor 14 seconds after take-off last week had lost power in one and possibly two port engines—but no structural defects were involved, the chairman of the House Aviation subcommittee says.

Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., said his subcommittee found no reason to order other Electras grounded. The Boston crash which killed 62 persons, was the fifth involving the Lockheed Electra since the planes went into service two years ago.

He said the subcommittee, which held an 8½-hour closed-door hearing in Boston, found no conclusive evidence that birds sucked into the air intake caused the engines to fail. That is the view of Gen. E. R. Quesada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency, who testified at the hearing.

Dead starlings were found scattered over the airport runway used by the ill-fated Eastern Air Lines plane.

School Group To Hold Series Of Meetings

Parents of school children as all residents of Logan Elm School District are being invited to answer the question, "What do we want from our schools?", during meetings being held at the three elementary schools the next few weeks.

On Thursday evening of this week the first meeting will be held at Pickaway School, with other meetings on October 25, at Salt Creek and October 27, at Washington. The meetings are being held in conjunction with the PTO meetings at the three schools. Mrs. Sterling Poling, State House Conference Chairman in Logan Elm district, is urging everyone in the district to participate in at least one of the meetings.

In each case the group will be divided into smaller groups for discussion of seven questions pertaining to the schools. At the close of the discussion each person present will be asked to fill out a questionnaire. These will be tabulated and used in planning the meetings for November at which time the question will be, "How do we get what we want?"

Seven basic areas will be covered in the discussions. These include the School Program-General, the school board, teachers, administrators, the graduates, curriculum, educational materials, buildings and equipment. A financial report on the district will also be given as homework for the November sessions.

On November 1, a different approach will be made to the same question "What do we want from our schools?" at Logan Elm High School. At this time a panel of educators, and people from business and industry will discuss the questions. "How can parents and teachers working together best prepare the student for the years after high school?" A discussion period will follow this discussion.

Debate Shaping Up On 'Great Debate'

NEW YORK (AP)—A great debate appears to be shaping up over the "great debate" between the presidential candidates.

Sen. John F. Kennedy has accepted a network offer to make time available for a fifth debate early in November.

But Vice President Richard M. Nixon is cool to the idea and has suggested that instead of a fifth debate he and Kennedy expand their fourth joint appearance to two hours.

Kennedy has not yet replied.

Originally, four one-hour debates were scheduled. Two already have been held and the third is set for Thursday night.

The proposal for another debate "around Nov. 2" was made in telegrams Saturday by three Democratic senators. The National Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. agreed to give television and radio time and the Mutual Broadcasting System offered its radio network facilities.

The Kennedy camp feels that the senator did so well in the first two debates that still another one would be beneficial to him. They also believe that, with the last debate now set for Oct. 21, too big a time gap would be left before the election and that the Republicans could finance a home-stretch TV blitz that the Democrats could not match because of a lack of funds.

The Republicans take another view.

Fred C. Scribner Jr., chief Republican National Committee negotiator on the four programs already scheduled asserted that Kennedy had lost the second TV debate, held last Friday.

"It is not unusual for a man who has been beaten to ask for a return match," he said. Nixon, in San Diego, Calif., suggested through his press secretary that the fourth joint TV appearance now scheduled for Oct. 21 be turned over to the vice-presidential candidates.

He also suggested that the two-hour debate that he proposed should be held some time in the week of Oct. 21-28 and that the time for both answering questions and for rebuttal should be increased from two-and-a-half to five minutes.

Nixon was quoted as saying that his schedule was too tight to permit a TV debate after Oct. 28.

March of Dimes Holds 2nd Meet

The Pickaway County Chapter, March of Dimes, held its second organization meeting last night at the Circleville Savings & Banking Co.

The meeting was conducted by C. K. Vaughn, chapter chairman, and David Crawford, this year's campaign chairman.

Vaughn and Crawford said the campaign in Pickaway County will kick off Jan. 2, 1961. Mrs. Richard Koch has been named to direct the annual "Mothers' March."

The next meeting for local officers and key workers will be 7:30 p. m., October 25 at the Savings Bank.

Mr. Frydland To Speak Here

Rachmil Frydland will speak at the Lowery Lane Mission at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Mr. Frydland will relate his experiences while in Warsaw, Poland, during Hitler's reign.

He now is executive director of the New York Messianic Witness, Inc., New York, N. Y.

At present Mr. Frydland is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Langacre, E. Ohio St.

The public is invited to attend.

Stock Market Moves Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly under quiet, semi-holiday conditions early this afternoon.

Banks and many other financial institutions were closed in observance of Columbus Day. Another World Series baseball game was expected to further dampen trading interest.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 to 208.00 with the industrials down .50, the rails down .10 and the utilities down .10.

No New . . .

find out what the man was doing in the area yesterday.

Several sections of clothesline rope allegedly carried by the robbers in the bank were found yesterday by Deputy John Wolford on Route 762 near Commercial Point.

THE robbers entered the bank and asked head cashier Beckett about a loan. Beckett said they asked to see the president when he refused to discuss a loan, then turned as if to leave. Instead both whirled around, brandishing revolvers, and one said: "Shell out the money."

One man pointed the revolver at Beckett and the other jobbed his gun into the back of Mrs. Frank Kauffeld, assistant cashier who was working near Beckett.

They took bills from the cash drawer and forced Beckett and Mrs. Kauffeld into a back room, locking them in by placing a chair under a door knob.

Beckett said the men remained in the bank about 10 minutes. He said they apparently took more money from an open safe.

Beckett and Mrs. Kauffeld were in the back room for about 20 minutes before a customer, Mrs. Robert Prindell, came into the bank. She and a neighbor, Mrs. Wiloon, freed them.

Deputy Radcliff said the loot included $15, $10, $20, $50 and $100 bills. No change was taken, he said.

BOTH Beckett, an employee of the bank for 42 years, and Mrs. Kauffeld were victims of a robbery of the bank on May 6, 1958. Two robbers then stole about $3,800, but later were apprehended and convicted.

Beckett also was a victim of a kidnapping in a bank plot that failed in 1933. Five men kidnaped him from his home, said they wanted to get to the bank's safe, but abandoned the attempt when they couldn't get into the building. Beckett was bound and left in Columbus.

Radcliff said numerous people reported seeing the car allegedly used. One man working on a road said he saw an auto fitting the description near Walker road after the robbery was committed.

Milady Gets Back Favorite Lipstick

WASHINGTON (AP)—The women of America may continue to buy lipsticks in their favorite colors.

The Food and Drug Administration has formally approved use of 13 specific coal tar colors for use in cosmetics, saying it is not inconsistent with the public health.

The finding, based on animal tests over the last two years, was made as a temporary measure pending more thorough testing over the next 2½ years.

OSU To Require Better Grades

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Johnny or Susie's grades are keeping them in the bottom third of their high school classes, they needn't plan on entering Ohio State University in the fall quarter of 1961.

University officials announced —after approval by the trustees Monday—that this policy is effective next year. Summer enrollment will be encouraged, and such low ranking students also may enter Ohio State in the winter or spring quarters. Officials say the policy probably will help the students because they will not be entering when enrollment is heaviest, and thus can be assured of more guidance and counsel.

Undergraduate applicants from outside the state are admitted only when they rank in the top third of their classes.

GE Head Rules Out Pay Boost That Would Bring Price Rise

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — General Electric Co.'s president has closed the door on any strike settlement that would mean price increases.

Robert Paxton, president of the nation's biggest electrical manufacturer, told an outdoor gathering of supervisory, technical and clerical employees at GE's River Works Tuesday:

"We are in the midst of another end greater strike right now—a buyer's strike."

"We cannot afford a settlement that will force us to raise prices because customers have signalled us loudly and clearly that they are not going to pay the extra costs—especially when they can buy foreign imports so much cheaper in many cases."

The Columbus Day holiday provided a breathing spell in the 11-day-old strike of the International Union of Electrical Workers. The holiday is celebrated in all of the New England states except Maine. GE plants here and elsewhere were closed, leaving little for pickets to do.

The holiday also brought a suspension in a superior court hearing at Boston on GE's petition for restraining orders to halt alleged picketing abuses at its Lynn and Everett plants. The company has completed its evidence; the union will begin putting in its case Thursday.

A similar suit brought by non-strikers at GE's Pittsfield, Mass., plant also is on the Thursday docket in the same court. The Pittsfield local was one of those that voted against the strike.

The Columbus Day holiday provided a breathing spell in the 11-day-old strike of the International Union of Electrical Workers. The holiday is celebrated in all of the New England states except Maine. GE plants here and elsewhere were closed, leaving little for pickets to do.

The holiday also brought a suspension in a superior court hearing at Boston on GE's petition for restraining orders to halt alleged picketing abuses at its Lynn and Everett plants. The company has completed its evidence; the union will begin putting in its case Thursday.

A similar suit brought by non-strikers at GE's Pittsfield, Mass., plant also is on the Thursday docket in the same court. The Pittsfield local was one of those that voted against the strike.

Germans To Loft 13-Foot Rocket

BREMEN, Germany (AP) — The German Rocket Society is preparing to shoot its first big postwar rocket 40 miles into space.

A spokesman for the society said today a 13-foot-long rocket probably will be fired within four weeks from an undisclosed spot on the German coast near Cuxhaven.

The spokesman said the rocket will be sent up strictly for meteorological purposes. It will contain delicate German-built measuring instruments.

The venture will be the biggest for German rocket scientists since Hitler developed the buzz-bombs of World War II.

The rocket society is a private group comprising 500 German scientists here and 200 abroad.

Distance Record Bid Ends in Crash

HONOLULU (AP)—Two North Dakota Air National Guardsmen, attempting a nonstop distance record in single-engine planes were approaching Wake Island Tuesday night when one of the pilots radioed that he was unable to climb. His buddy, Capt. Charles Finnegan, 30, also of Fargo, landed at Wake.

Tariff Agreements Outdated

One of the major thorns in the side of American business still to be discussed by the candidates is the effect upon the domestic economy of foreign competition. The issue no longer can be dismissed with a shrug of indifference. It is real and it is hurting American industry.

Sales to overseas markets are declining and sales of imports are increasing in the United States. Specialized industries have so far escaped the infiltration of international markets by similar products made by cheaper labor in lands with incomparably lower living standards.

Almost without exception, however, major industries are finding import duties collected by foreign governments—far in excess of duties paid by manufacturers in these same countries on goods shipped here—and cheaper commodities now being produced by European and Asian manufacturers in increasing quantities are sharply curtailing the market for American-made goods.

It would be a tragic disservice to the nation if political leaders waited until the full impact of unfavorable trade positions has been felt in the factories and on the employment rolls. Corrective measures can be applied now, and with little discomfort to any but those foreign manufacturers in a position to take advantage of some peculiar government regulation on international commerce.

Asian manufacturers, for example, now produce textiles, cameras, transistor radios and microscopes with labor required to work under hardships and at wages outmoded in this country 30 years ago. Washington permits these products almost unlimited access to American markets—with no more than token import duties—to compete with American goods produced by people who long ago rose above present working conditions in the Orient.

Greater efficiency in American production lines, automation and better management have taken up some of the slack, but the cost differential is too great to be overcome. In addition, most foreign markets for American goods—including Japan, Britain, Italy and France—impose import duties ranging up to several hundred per cent.

Many of the tariff agreements responsible for this condition were deliberately negotiated by Washington in an avowed effort to revitalize war-torn foreign industry. That purpose was achieved years ago.

Telephone Overdid Itself

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell did a great thing when he invented the telephone.

It served people apart. It brought them by wire closer together across county and continent.

It seemed for a while that the telephone was the greatest sociological instrument ever devised.

It made the world a universal "Hello."

There are those who now believe the telephone has an even greater future by marrying it to television. I don't mean to explore here the possibilities of pay-TV by wire.

What I mean to discuss is the possibility you can phone people and see them as you talk to them personally.

This prospect may sound like a fine scientific achievement, but I think its real appeal is to teenagers rather than grownups.

Teen-agers seem to have a fascination for each other's face and voice which to the average grown-up is repellent. They could use the teaming of electronic voice and electronic sight to enjoyment.

No one else I know can. The truth is that the telephone rather overdid its ability to say "Hello" to everybody and anybody.

Certainly, like the Pony Express and the telegraph, it was a dramatic victory in communications. But the better it got, the more problems the telephone created.

It became an instrument to invade the greatest and most indispensable communication a man can have—the communication of his own thought to himself, which needs no wires. But it does demand privacy.

The telephone is a great instrument of many purposes. It saves the housewife from walking to stores. It speeds business decisions. It is the voice of reach to friends. In an emergency it is a cry of help that brings quick aid. It knits the lonely; it joins the gossips; it keeps, in occasional and needed reunion, the loyalties of farflung families.

But the telephone does other and more dismal things, too.

People you call up and would prefer not to hear you have to do so. People you don't want to hear from again have this inevitable choice to your ear.

Strangers call you up and ask you to do things you don't want to do.

Answering a telephone, which originally was a thrill, becomes in time a chore and a fear.

In business there is also a tendency toward putting a hired ear between your own ear and the phone. Anyone who picks up his own phone and answers it when it rings is behind the times.

I would phone up Dr. Alexander Graham Bell in heaven and complain about this except for one thing.

I'm sure the reply would be: "Dr. Bell is not available now. Can I take a message?"

Cyrus Eaton Lashes U.S.

By George Sokolsky

Cyrus Eaton, the Cleveland speculator who is often called a capitalist, gave a luncheon at the Hotel Biltmore in New York on September 26. Eaton conducts his own private diplomacy in utter disregard of the requirements of his country.

I have the list of those whom Eaton invited, although I do not know whether all those invited attended. As it is, in the circumstances, it belongs to say that an American attended such a luncheon if he did not, setting him down as having a treacherous and disrespectful heart if not mind, I must refrain from publishing the list until I can check whether those asked, accepted.

Thirty-four Russians were invited in addition to Khrushchev. The list of Americans asked does not contain too many distinguished names, although two or three persons force one to raise an eyebrow. It will be difficult to check the more obscure persons. My list shows that in addition to the Russians, Cyrus Eaton invited 163 persons.

He delivered an address. The report states that as he spoke, he improvised and added to the address. Copies of the address were given to those who attended. He opened on this note:

"I should hope that this luncheon would not only lead to strengthened friendships, but also serve as a forum for discussion of ways and means to increase business between the Soviet Union and North America, and to secure cooperation to the mutual advantage of all three nations in the markets of the world."

He then hoped to take Khrushchev to the Hall of Fame of which he, Eaton, is an Elector, and then he would like the Russian to attend one game of the World Series. He then turned to economics and said:

"I, as a capitalist, believe there is abundant room for both of our systems, and others, to flourish side by side on the same planet."

Having said that, he buttered up Soviet Russia in this manner:

"We of the West have not failed to note superb Soviet accomplishments in other than economic areas. For some years, I have had the privilege of knowing many of our scientists, whose eminence is evidenced in numerous ways, but particularly by your brilliant advances in space ballistics.

"I have seen your great schools, colleges and libraries, which testify to the soundness of your educational methods. Most recently there has been the admirable performance of your athletes at the Olympic Games in Rome."

Cyrus Eaton then discussed disarmament. He does not propose inspection and control. Regarding disarmament, Eaton said:

"Since lofty ethical considerations and terrifying prospects of destruction have failed to move mankind, I suggest that we now earnestly put forward the unquestioned economic advantages to both our countries of terminating the arms race. We can discuss frankness, because I am sure you know the facts."

"The world is now spending more than $100 billion a year on armaments. Close to half of this amount, I must add regretfully is being spent by my country and, to my even greater regret, some well-meaning men in the United States are actually urging an increase of 20 per cent in annual American outlays for armaments. "What dividends can the arms race yield but death and destruction? Conversely, think of the untold benefits to all mankind of the equivalent in trade and commerce of the $100 billion now being wasted each year on armaments."

There up on Cyrus Eaton told Nikita Khrushchev:

"Then there is the present weakness of the American dollar, which for instance, is currently worth only 97 per cent of the Canadian dollar. Our American gold holdings have fallen below $19 billion dollars for the first time in 20 months as they inevitably must pendulize, impose a heavy burden on Americans in all walks of life.

"I am concerned not merely with some soundness and the integrity of the American dollar, but particularly with its popularity at home and abroad. I want to see American bankers loaning money in every possible part of the world, and I want to see American investors risking their cash around the globe, wherever the capitalistic system is welcome. This obviously requires that we Americans make friends, and avoid inspiring envy and resentment."

What else he said extemporaneously I do not know. Cyrus Eaton seems to love the enemies of the United States.

CAME THE RAINS—Royal marines in a collapsible dinghy rescue stranded housewives in Exmouth, England, where eight inches of rain within a week caused rivers to overflow and disrupted power lines. Exmouth people were still cleaning up from a previous flood when the waters surged again. Three persons perished.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev's actions—by all the orderly standards of the United Nations—have been abnormal. It seems fair now to ask: How much balance does he have?

For 22 days in this country, instead of appealing to reason and fairness, Khrushchev has tried repeatedly to obtain what he wants by threats. Whether or not his fits of anger are real or for effect, his purpose has been to intimidate.

One after another his proposals have been frustrated. Each frustration seems to have driven him to a new excess.

He could have presented his ideas in one well-arranged package. Instead, he seems to have improvised, thinking up new extremes as he went along.

If he follows through on some of his threats, then his main accomplishment in visiting the United Nations has been to wreck it. He said he wanted disarmament. But he also said he wanted Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold thrown out and replaced by a three-man secretariat, one representing communism, one the West, and one the neutrals.

Then he coupled disarmament with Hammarskjold. Khrushchev said that if he didn't get the three-man secretariat, then there could be no disarmament.

Even the dullest U. N. delegate could see what Khrushchev wanted was not really a three-man, balanced secretariat but a hunting license.

If Russia tried an adventure anywhere in the world and the three secretaries sat down to discuss action to stop it, the secretary representing communism could prevent with a veto anything the other two secretaries wanted to do.

As time passed and Khrushchev saw he was making no progress on this, he went much further than just saying there could be no disarmament unless he got his three-man secretariat.

He said that unless he got it—even though every other nation voted against him—"we shall uphold our interests outside this international body, outside the U.N., by relying on our own strength."

What are Russia's "interests"? They could be anything Khrushchev wanted them to be. This threat, if carried out, will in effect wreck the United Nations, leaving it a kind of shadow organization.

It is not only his continuing threats but also his seeming obsession with the idea of war, destruction and death which seems peculiarly abnormal. He never stops talking about it, linking it obliquely with his threats.

He has lost at every turn, on everything he wanted at the United Nations. Now the world has to wait to see whether he makes good on his threats.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After an evening like Tuesday night, it is obvious that there is nothing the matter with television that imagination, thought and hard work can't cure.

First there was the season's first "CBS Reports," a fascinating suspense story with a happy ending. It was a documentary about the long, extensive development of the Navy's Polaris missile, invented expressly to be fired by a submerged atom-powered submarine.

CBS has had its camera lens on both the submarine George Washington and—whenever security permitted—the missile for almost five years. Thus the program (narrated by Edward R. Murrow with great simplicity) was both absorbing and instructive. It was reassuring and heartening, too, to learn about a weapon with such a war-detering potential.

About an hour later, NBC gave us the "Donald O'Connor Show," a gay program of pure entertainment—great dancing, pleasant songs, good humor and handsome backgrounds. O'Connor, who turns up on TV as rarely as Fred Astaire, is a man of many talents and the greatest of these is dancing.

Mitzi Gaynor, his pretty costar, contributed her dancing and singing abilities and it was all delightful.

And in between, if one was twisting the dial selectively, there was a very good mystery episode on "Thriller," on NBC.

That familiar TV interview format—questions by a panel and answers by the guest—seems to have been chosen unanimously as the politicians' favorite means of getting their messages across. From the viewers' location in front of the TV set, however, it is a more satisfactory session when there is just one man answering the questions.

In the joint Nixon-Kennedy appearances, the business of limiting the time for both the answer to a question and the rebuttal period of his opponent leaves many questions up in the air when the questioners move on to another area.

CBS will pre-empt the time of its Sunday "Face the Nation" for an hour's special showing the 1961 models of American automobiles. NBC's "Meet the Press," at the same time—6 p.m., EDT—will interview Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy. The overnight ratings on those two shows will make interesting reading.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

He Should—But Not from You!

DEAR ABBY: A 16-year-old boy lives next door. Last night he told me he was never told the facts of life. I was really surprised, because I am 13 and my mother told me a long time ago. He said he asked his father and was told he knew all he needed to know to get along. His 18-year-old sister also told him he knew enough. He said all he knows he heard from the kids at school. I don't feel right talking about things like that with him, but I do think he ought to know. Where can he find out?

Solaqua Members Display Flowers

Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh, Route 3, entertained at her home Friday members of the Solaqua Garden Club. Mrs. John Eitel was assistant hostess.

Mrs. James Hott opened the meeting with 25 members present. Mrs. Eitel headed the Devotional period.

Program books for the coming year were distributed during the business session. The monthly prize was won by Mrs. Hott.

The president announced that the regional meeting will be held November 17 at the Trinity Church, Basil.

Mrs. Glen Rinehart displayed a rare specimen bloom of a cactus. Dahlias were presented by Mrs. John Koch.

Mrs. Hott then presented an article concerning bulbs, the backbone of the spring garden.

She described the composition of a bulb; where and how deep to plant; care and fertilization act. She stressed that a person should not cut away the tops after bloom.

The hostesses served a dessert course to members and guests. Miss Mary Cline and Mrs. James Fausnaugh and children.

A GIRL WHO KNOWS
DEAR GIRL: The boy should learn the "facts of life" from a mature, informed adult. If his father refuses to tell him, he should go to his clergyman, his coach at school or a respected relative or friend. Don't YOU discuss it with him.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of the GROOM'S family going into debt over their ears to put on a big wedding and reception just to impress people? When our daughter became engaged, we explained to the boy's parents that out income was limited, and said we would give the children the nicest wedding and reception we could afford. This didn't suit them, because they took over without consulting us, and are putting on a three-ring circus and are paying for everything. We'll be the laughing stock of this town for years to come. Should we refuse to attend the wedding?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE
DEAR MOTHER: The parents of the groom could hardly plan your daughter's wedding without her knowledge and consent. If she shares your viewpoint (which, by the way, is the proper one), she should let them know. If she's all for the groom's family putting on the show and footing the bill, then go and keep the peace.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a businessman should hire relatives when he needs more help? This is a small place and most of us have been here a long time, but lately the boss has been bringing his relatives in. To them there's no "Boss"—only "Cousin Joe" "Brother Moe". We outsiders don't appreciate a family reunion every day during business hours. He'd appreciate your comments.

Consumer Seen Trend Setter In Days Ahead

On Him Will Depend Course of Business In Next Few Months

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer hogs the center of the business stage today. The other actors have failed to make a hit in their first fall appearances. Manufacturing business spending, purchasing agents and retail buyers, easier money policies, even government spending have not come forward with the needed push for the economy. What the consumer buys, how much he spends, how much he saves, how much he has to spend — these are prime factors in setting the trend in the months just ahead.

The figures for September have not been too reassuring.

In an advance report, the Department of Commerce estimates retail sales slipped 1 per cent below the August level. But a number of stores have reported doing better than a year ago.

The consumer was holding tighter to what he had to spend.

Another indication of that has been the rise in the total amount of savings. Still another has been the slowdown in the rate of increase of consumer credit. Installment credit took a big jump last year, but in recent months the increase has been moderate.

The total of consumer debt has been built to a record. Counting in personal loans and home mortgages, total debt repayment now comes to $52 billion a year, according to the Institute of Life Insurance. This would be about one-sixth of all personal income after taxes.

If consumers are paying out around $1 billion a week on the various types of debt they owe, the crimp in their additional spending is evident.

But personal income has been holding high. And the job report for September, while far from glowing, had its reassuring elements. The total of the jobless, however is still far too high to make any great pickup in consumer buying a sure thing.

The job situation brightened in the auto industry as it pushed toward supplying its dealers with enough new models to start a big sales drive.

A slight rise in steel orders has heartened some companies. But the trade publication, Iron Age, warns, "The improvement does not mean a significant change in steel operations."

Steel orders aren't consumer spending. But any major pickup in steel, auto, appliance and other manufacturing activities would soon be translated into higher incomes available for consumer spending.

Wagners Not Joining Flight To Tax-Proof Switzerland

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At a time when some stars are fleeing to bomb- and tax-proof chalets in Switzerland, it's refreshing to find a glamor pair putting up a palace right in the heart of the high-rent district.

The couple: Robert Wagner and Natalie Wood. Their place is located on Beverly Drive in Beverly Hills, hard by the homes of Kirk Douglas and Rosalind Russell.

The Wagners are transforming their Southern-style mansion into a Roman palazzo. Bob gave me the 80-cent tour the other day, since Natalie was off playing a tenement wail in "West Side Story."

"Pardon the mess," he apologized. "We've been living in chaos for days. I usually wake up with a painter staring me in the face and asking me if I like the shade."

Hemline Order Brings Demand Principal Quit

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Are short skirts indecent?

William N. Craley principal of the suburban Central Union High School, says skirts with hemlines above the knees certainly are indecent.

When he made this known in personal warnings last week to a handful of the 700 girls in the junior-senior high school, he started a sizzling feud that boiled over today into the hands of a 12-member citizens committee.

At a noisy meeting Monday night, at which parents referred to Craley as dictatorial, the school board decided to let the citizens committee resolve the hemline controversy.

When one parent asked for a show of feeling on whether the board and school administration should be thrown out, about 650 of the 700 persons at the meeting stood up.

The 96 pupils who brought the issue to a head last Friday by staging a sit-down strike in the school cafeteria were readmitted to school Monday. Observers said they didn't notice any bare knees.

The black and white marble of the entrance and dining room needs polishing, he explained, and the gold leaf that ornaments the balustrades and columns needs finishing touches. The living room lacks the hand-woven white rug.

Still, the visitor can get a good notion of how the place will shape up. The living room is a great hall of glass and marble, with windows looking into the enclosed garden room. Two Roman figures in flowing robes preside over the fountains.

Outside is the big pool, a turquoise free-form that will be converted into a Roman bath with columns and statuary. Upstairs, his bedroom is built, hers isn't. Hers will feature 26 feet of wardrobe and a sunken pool in the bathroom. His has a 20-foot-high wall of wormwood — "Unpainted, I like it better that way."

Wagner ended the tour in the den, where they live while work is in progress. "We'll have about $150,000 invested in the place when we finish," he reported. "That's not bad when you consider what the other houses are going for around here. One lot sold recently for $85,000."

From the Mouths Of Babes — Truth?

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A fifth grade social studies class at Meadowdale School here was assigned to make a mural depicting their concept of the Kennedy-Nixon television debates.

The finished product showed a lectern with a water glass in front of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon. In front of Nixon's Democratic rival, Sen. John M. Kennedy, was a cocktail glass.

"What's the meaning of this?" asked the teacher.

And an 11-year-old boy replied, "Mr. Kennedy is rich so he can afford martinis."

Japanese University Confers Degree on Ike

TOKYO (AP) — Nihon University, one of Asia's largest, has conferred on President Eisenhower the degree it had planned to give him during his visit last June.

U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II accepted the honorary doctorate of laws for the President, whose trip to Japan was cancelled because of violent leftist riots against the U.S.-Japan security treaty.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Arthritis

- Parkinson's Disease
- Rectal Fistula
- Diabetes Explained

Q. Is arthritis a modern disease and can it be helped through diet?

A. The answer is "No" to both questions. The very first evidence of arthritis in any creature has been preserved in the spine of a Comanchean dinosaur 100,000,000 years old. Arthritis is reported in the remains of neolithic man, ancient Egyptians, Peruvians and early American Indians, to name only a few examples. A well-balanced diet is indicated for arthritis (as it is for all other persons) but no special food or vitamin has been found helpful.

Q. My father has Parkinson's disease. He takes medicine and does fairly well but complains of excessive amounts of saliva. Can this be helped?

A. Various drugs used in treatment of Parkinson's disease tend to dry the mucous membranes but there is nothing very effective, so far as we know, for diminishing excessive saliva flow which occurs in some persons with this condition.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Garden Gossip

Mrs. Nat Schoen, president of the American Rose Society and the first woman ever to hold the office, says that in her garden at Vancouver, Washington, she has between 750 and 1,000 roses.

We asked if she grew them commercially and she said, no, it was just a vice with her.

She went on to explain that she budded roses. She felt that one rose bush of a kind was not enough to make a fair test so she tries to have at least six of a kind.

She says budding is actually no trick. Much of the commercial budding is done by teenagers. The most important thing is to be agile.

When Mrs. Schoen first became interested in roses she followed her gardener around like a puppy and learned everything there was to learn.

SHE'S GOOD enough at budding that she occasionally helps out in a commercial way. A grower she knew was short handed so Helen Schoen donned her old blue jeans, packed her lunch in a bucket and reported to the rose fields...in the family Cadillac.

The other workers accepted her on equal terms but they did show interest in the Cadillac. And she thinks that some of them under the impression that there must be more to rose budding as a profession than at first appeared.

Nat Schoen leaves the rose growing to his wife. But he gets a buzz out of photographing some of her most beautiful roses.

Harry O'Brien, editor of the Columbus Dispatch garden page was interested to know that there was a wedding bell tree in Circleville. He has seen it only one time and that was in a botanical garden in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. O'Brien says that although they have been married 39 years she still does not feel qualified to answer the questions over the telephone that gardeners ask her when her husband is not there.

Harry O'Brien and Fred Claes of Redding, Pa., were in one accord when it came to a certain rose they were both testing. Unless they and great many other rose people are mistaken it will be an All America winner.

This rose was described as almost iridescent, a glowing coral. Mr. Claes said that some of his roses were planted quite a distance from his house and as he drew near the planting this particular rose almost gleamed.

Mrs. Frank Howell of Detroit is an ARS judge and also a nationally accredited Flower Show Judge with a life certificate. She loved the Noggles' Japanese anemones which are head high.

James Guernsey, executive secretary of the ARS, says that as far as he knows there are no blue roses in the immediate offing. We reminded him that several years ago he had predicted that a blue rose would make its appearance within 10 years. The 10 years is almost up.

AMONG THE rosarians giving the Noggle garden the once-over was the chic, young managing editor of "The American Rose Magazine", Margaret Coon with her husband.

Of all the odious characters we know none is more odious than the name dropper. We cannot understand how people can succumb to this temptation.

While others are going in for growing midget vegetables Mrs. Richard Ballard of Tarleton still grows the big ones. She has peppers and tomatoes in her garden that are enormous.

Mrs. Ballard has taken to gourd growing too. Guess where the gourds are! Climbing up the lightening rods of the big Ballard home.

Speaking of famous last words, I made this remark to my husband while I was looking over my marigolds. "I, definitely, have prize winning marigolds this year."

A few minutes later Mrs. Turney Pontious was showing me through her garden. Guess what I said! "You, definitely, have prize winning marigolds!"

An hour or so later Mrs. James Moffitt and I were strolling through her garden when we came upon her marigolds. "Mrs. Moffitt", I said, "You definitely have prize winning marigolds!"

Her's were Climax marigolds from Polly Measamer's. And Polly is proud of her marigolds. So unless Jack Frost intervenes there will be some excellent marigolds at the Pumpkin Show.

Mrs. G. H. Armstrong had a red gladioli pinned to her jacket. She says there are only about half a dozen gladioli left in the garden to bloom.

MRS. ARMSTRONG had excellent luck with fall planted French anemones last spring.

Mrs. Melvin Struckman is delighted with the chrysanthemums that she raised from cuttings this summer. The cuttings were given her by Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart who has grown even the big football mums with considerable success.

Mrs. Struckman rooted the chrysanthemums in plant flats. She admits she crowded the cuttings. She was the first one to be surprised when they did so well. In fact, she has given a lot of plants away.

We get repeated reports that flowers change color. Lucia Spangler, Tarleton, says one of her chrysanthemums turned from a deep yellow to white.

Mrs. Clyde Hedges Tarleton, says that 34 years ago this fall she helped make 60 quarts of apple butter. It was an outdoor project with many of the relatives assisting. They boiled the cider down in a big vat, added the apples and stirred.

Mrs. Loren Fogler was discussing quince honey. This is a rare delicacy for those who love the flavor of quinces.

A member of the high school science class asked me about "Orchids". Now I certainly know what an orchid is but "orchis" was something different.

For those of you with youngsters taking botany "Orchis" is a large group of terrestrial, leafy, losing orchids found in North America and Europe and the more temper-

Experts Differ On Clean-up Job in Garden

One Says Burn;
Other Says To Leave All Garden Trash

Clean-up time in the garden has arrived. There are two schools of thought about this autumn clean-up. And they are certainly poles apart. Ben F. Vance, extension horticulturist at Iowa State College, is a cutter - offer, raker and burner.

Miss Ruth Stout, West Redding Conn., and author of a best seller, "How to Have a Green Thumb without an Aching Back" is a mulcher. Miss Stout says clean up the garden but leave everything there to decay.

"To understand the importance of a fall clean - up, says extension horticulturist Vance, you need a little knowledge about the way diseases and insects carry over from one season to the next."

He then cites the peony botrytis blight, iris leaf spot and rose black spot.

He says that these disease may be prevented next spring by cutting off, now raking and burning all diseased plant parts, leaves stems and flowers.

VANCE IS all for fall spading of gardens too. He maintains that insects spend the winter in the soil and if the soil is turned over the insects are then exposed to the elements as well as natural predators.

Not so Miss Stout. She maintains most of her plants are disease free and without any spraying program. She believes that mulched plants are disease free plants. But even when her plants get something she ignores the trouble and the next year, she claims, the plants are fine and healthy.

One year an expert told her that her peonies had a disease and that she would lose every plant if she did not burn every leaf and stem. This she did not do. Bua her peonies are fine and healthy.

So take your choice in the matter of whose advice you will follow. If you are a young, energetic, scientific minded gardener you will probably take Vance's advice and rake, burn and spade.

On the other hand if your bones are beginning to creak and hard work doesn't have its former appeal, Miss Stout's your gal.

Incidentally, Miss Stout never spades. She just keeps mulching. In the spring she pulls the mulch aside for the sun to warm the soil. She sprinkles the small seed on top of the soil and the large seeds, like peas or beans, she covers with hay. The young shoots he assures us, will push their way through the mulch.

American families spent 3.4 per cent of their income after taxes for health care services and products in 1959, reports the Health Insurance Institute.

ate parts of Asia and North Africa. All are tuberous rooted and have erect leafy stems and dense spikes of flowers.

MRS. PAUL WOODS of Stoutsville has fabulous things to tell. For instance, she has seen the blue roses of Japan. Friday night at Garden Club she was telling about visiting an orchid garden with white peacocks walking around. This was in California and she has some white peacock feathers.

Mary Ellen Hitchcock and I were trying to coax Mrs. Woods into starting a class of Japanese arranging. During Mrs. Wood's stay in Japan she studied Ikenana.

But Mrs. Woods is going to be married about Thanksgiving time and she thinks she'd better not start classes in Japanese arranging. And thus fades a dream for Mary Ellen and me.

Enter Specimen Classes And Groom Your Entries

Don't go to a flower show, point to a specimen with a blue ribbon on it and say, "My asters were much better than the asters that have won the prize."

Nobody is going to believe you. If your asters are that good people will want to know why you did not enter them for competition.

And in the second place you just can't be too sure. Flowers that look mighty perfect in the garden can show up to disadvantage when competing with other specimens of real excellence.

On the other hand perfection in the horticultural world is difficult to achieve. So don't refrain from entering the competition because you feel your flowers are not perfect.

BRING the best you have, groom them well and wait for the outcome. Judges frequently take into consideration the time of year, the weather conditions and things of that nature.

But don't incidentally, bring a specimen that will disgrace you. We have seen shameful flowers exhibited just because the exhibitor knew that nobody else would be bringing dahlias, (for instance), since a killing frost put an end to dahlia blooming two weeks previously.

A conscientious judge will by-pass such exhibits.

There are a few common sense rules for selecting specimens for competition. Choose a fresh young flower. Age will tell in substance, form and color. So that if your flower is too old points will be taken off in either one or all of these instances.

Roses, of course, must be from one half to three fourths open. But age in other flowers is also important. Zinnias are considered too old if the yellow florets around the center are in bloom. It is not only permissible but advisable to remove these little florets before entering your specimens.

Age will be revealed in asters, dahlias chrysanthemums and marigolds if the center disc is visible at all.

In grooming dahlias it is permissible, we understand, to remove the back row of petals if they are showing wear and age.

CUT your specimens with stems in proportion to the size of the flower. A judge will look at the stem of a flower as a test of good growing. Size of the stem is important as well as its length. A big flower nodding on a weak flimsy stem is indicative of poor growing conditions.

Certainly specimen flowers are to have been disbudded preferably a week or two before the show.

In the case of delphinium and celosia laterals are to be left on the main stem.

However since the Pumpkin Show schedule clearly states that side buds and branches are to be removed and gives no exceptions the judge cannot legislate against specimens of delphinium and celosia which have had laterals removed.

Incidentally never remove the foliage from your specimen. That is one of the ways the judge has of finding out about its cultural perfection.

Chances are the judge will be suspicious of any specimen whose foliage has been peeled off. The judge will suspect the leaves were damaged or they would have been left on the specimen.

Give Roses Head Start, Says Boerner

Fall is an excellent time to plant roses unless your area experiences below zero temperatures during winter, advise rose expert E. S. Boerner, plant research director for the Jackson & Perkins Company.

With the earlier establishment of its root system the fall planted bush should produce flowers from 10 days to 2 weeks sooner than spring planted bushes.

There are several other advantages, Boerner points out.

First of all the soil is easier to work in the fall. Also, there are fewer gardening jobs to be done and more good weekends to select for planting in comfort.

Furthermore, rose firms are more likely to have a plentiful supply of all varieties including the favorites that sell out early in the spring.

However, it is important to provide fall planted roses with adequate winter protection. Plants should have soil piled up around the stems 6 to 8 inches.

After the first freeze the rest of the plant should be covered with straw, hay or similar material.

In preparing soil for the rose bed the home gardener should remember to add peatmoss mixing in at least one shovelful for every three shovels of earth.

Providing the home gardener observes these simple precautions he should be the first in his neighborhood to enjoy blooms of the latest and most desired varieties of roses.

To Receive Degree

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Leona Baumgartner, New York City health commissioner, is to receive an honorary doctorate in science Saturday from Western College for Women at the school's annual convocation.

The plum gouger is a fruit loving beetle that lays its eggs in the skin of young plums.

Annual Mum Show Always Excellent

One of the top notch flower shows each year is the late autumn flower show presented by the Central Ohio chrysanthemum Society.

It will be held again this year at the Whetstone Park Shelter House adjacent to the Park of roses in Columbus.

It will be open to the public, free of charge, from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. October 22 and from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. October 23.

There will be 60 classes for the mum fancier to enter.

AWARDS will be first, second a third place ribbons with honorable mention ribbons where competition is close. Only ribbon awards will be given to non members of the Central Ohio Chrysanthemum society. Rosettes will be given to the best specimen and the best arrangement in each section. Special awards will be given for the best of show.

All specimen blooms must have been grown by the exhibitor in an outdoor garden. Temporary protection against rain, frost and wind is permitted.

In the arrangement division there will be classes for the novice, for junior exhibitors, for men and for advanced arrangers. The rest of the classes will be open to all. There will also be a class for invitational arrangers.

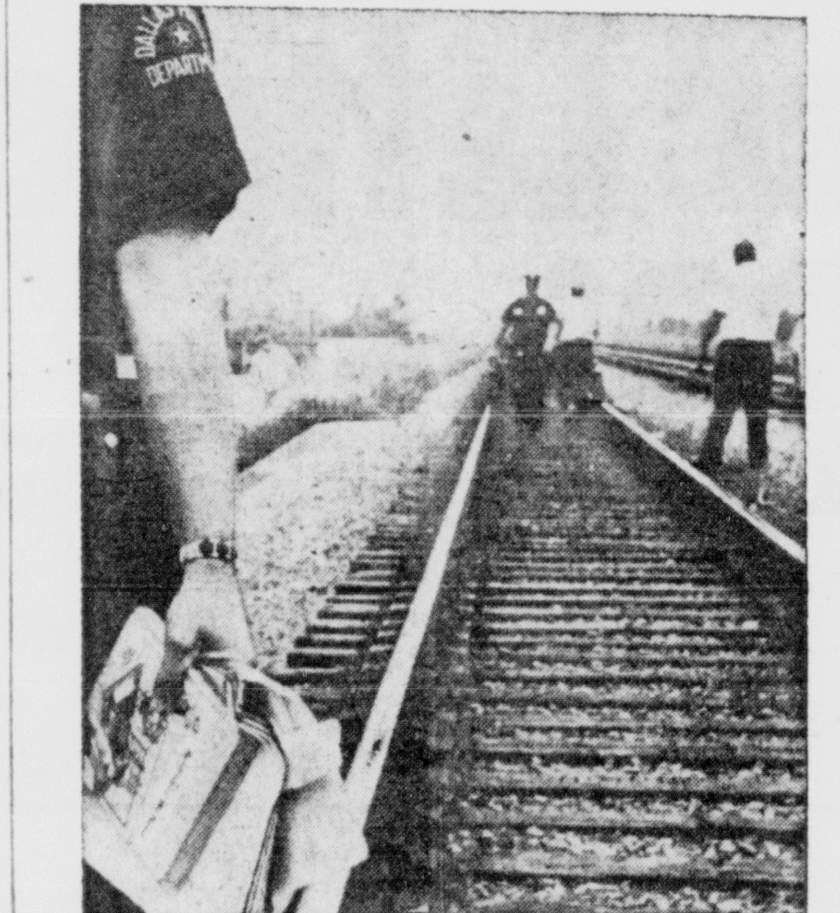

Do not let Pumpkin Show fatigue cause you to miss this excellent Chrysanthemum Society show. There will be on exhibit every known kind of Chrysanthemum from the button to the large exhibition type.

You will be more than amazed at what amateur growers can accomplish. It is a very special show and one that no gardener should miss.

Two Given Probation For Falsifying Records

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two former employees of the Fisher Auto Body plant in nearby Norwood have won five years probation on their pleas of guilty to charges of falsifying sick pay records to obtain money. Judge Ralph B. Kohnen in Common Pleas Court Tuesday ordered the two Merrill Tarter, 21, and Ralph Slusher, 21, to pay back the $240 obtained in the ruse.

SCHOOL DAY ENDS BEFORE IT STARTS—School books of 12-year-old Jimmy Wayne Phillips are carried by a Dallas, Tex., policeman, after the boy was killed on the way to school by a Texas and Pacific passenger train. The tragedy, unwittingly, was discovered when the engineer of the train found a peanut butter sandwich wrapped in waxed paper on the front of his engine in Fort Worth. He called Dallas and a search party found the boy's scattered books and note paper, and his body on the tracks. He had missed his ride to school, and apparently had taken a shortcut.

ONG Cage Loop Meeting Set Thursday

The local Ohio National Guard is setting plans to sponsor another independent basketball league here this season.

Sgt. Chester Iery said a pre-season meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the ONG Armory on E. Franklin St. to discuss initial plans. All interested managers, sponsors, players and officials are requested to attend.

Sgt. Iery said he hopes to have a 16-team league. Tentative plans call for three nights of playing each week.

Individual trophies and a sponsor's trophy will be presented to the championship team. This same type awards program was well accepted here last season.

Iery said league rules and regulations will be discussed Thursday night. He said entry fees also will be determined.

Dewitt's Status Still in Doubt

DETROIT (AP) — President Bill Dewitt's future with the Detroit Tigers — bleak for a week amid reports he'd be fired — remained in doubt today following sale of the club's controlling interest to a strong-thinking radio executive.

Whatever action is taken on the heavily criticized Tiger president of one year has been delayed by the surprise transaction that gave John E. Fetzer command of the Detroit Baseball Co. Fetzer, already the principal owner, said he was buying additional stock from a group lead by Kenyon Brown of Los Angeles.

Little Tigersmen Pass Stiff Test with Win over Ewing

Circleville's hard core Junior High football team battled to its third straight win here last night with a bruising 18-6 victory over Lancaster Thomas Ewing.

The game Little Tigers met and passed their sternest test of the season. The first half score ended, 6-6, but the locals came on with a rush in the final quarters to take the stubborn Ewing eleven in hand.

The game started with an explosion by both teams. Howard Dade, Circleville's ace right halfback, took the opening kickoff and raced 72 yards for a touchdown behind some excellent blocking. Ewing retaliated on its first play from scrimmage when Fullback Eddie Effinger broke around left end for 64 yards and a TD.

Both teams missed their tries for extra points and the score remained deadlocked until shortly after the third period started.

THE Tiny Tigers made their own break early in the third quarter by recovering a Lancaster fumble on the enemy 40.

Dade and Halfback Jim Wood combined to move the ball to the Ewing 7 from where Dade carried in to break the deadlock. The run for extra points was stopped, but the Tiny Tigers commanded a 12-6 lead.

A few minutes later Wood set up Circleville's third touchdown by hauling in a punt and travelling from his own 35 to Ewing's 20. Dade and Tackle George Ramsey threw key blocks to send the setback on his way.

The eventual score came in an unusual manner. Wood smashed into the line for a sizable gain, but lost the ball on the way. The pigskin bounded into the end zone and alert tackle Doug Roth fell on it for a Circleville touchdown. Again the try for extras was stopped, but the scoreboard read 18-6 in favor of Circleville.

In the final seconds of the third period, Dade tucked in a punt and rammed 55 yards for a TD, only to see the fine effort called back on a clipping penalty.

In the fourth quarter, both teams developed a bad case of fumbleitis. The Bengals bobbled twice and Ewing recovered both. However, the visitors repaid the gestures by losing the ball two times with Circleville pouncing on both.

AS THE final quarter gun approached, Ewing fashioned a drive for three successive first downs behind the hard running of Effinger, the enemy's crack fullback. The drive stalled on the Circleville 3 as the game ended.

The victory came as Circleville's hardest earned of the season. It also marked the first official score against the locals who had shutout Lancaster General Sherman in two previous tests.

Coaches Paul Sarchet and Ralph Starkey commended their boys for the win, but warned that many mistakes cropped up. They singled out Dade and Halfback Eddie Smith for their rapid smashes up the middle on dive plays and cited the defensive play of Mick Tomlinson, Dick Samuel, Charles Martin, Ronnie Seward and others on defense.

Next game for the undefeated miniature Bengals is scheduled Wednesday at Thomas Ewing. After last night's heavy struggle, the game probably will be earmarked as a battle royal. The contest will get started at 4 p. m. on Ewing's gridiron.

Three Teams Earn 4 Points in Loop

Three teams of the Late Monday Nite league at Circle D Lanes earned four points in games this week. Earning the honors were Andy's Restaurant, the league leader, Hoover's Music and Circle D.

Rolling 200 or better games were C. Roys with a 220, J. Bender 206 and B. Ingles 200. Bender had a 554 series, Roy 523, M. Rhoades 517 and Bill Betts 514.

Circle D was high team with a 925 single game and a 2,785 series.

Wildlife Council Drops Plans To Populate Elliot's Pheasant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Wildlife Council says it will discontinue the plan to establish the Elliot's pheasant in southeastern Ohio. The council said the action was taken because it has been established that there is little or no chance for the successful establishment of the species.

The Elliot's pheasant was one of a number of new species of game birds introduced by the division of wildlife in 1953 in order to provide more hunting. The Elliot's pheasant came from southeast China.

Lodge Changes Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican campaign office for GOP vice presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge says the former United Nations official has changed plans for a visit to Cleveland on Oct. 19. Lodge headquarters here announced Tuesday that he will visit Cleveland on another date, yet to be selected. Scheduling difficulties were blamed for the postponement.

Ruffed grouse and deer become legal game at daylight Saturday, Oct. 15. The grouse season lasts until Feb. 25, but the deer season—and it's for users of the long bow only, no guns please—goes until Dec. 31.

If you prefer a gun to a bow and arrow, your deer season will be limited to two days, Dec. 15-16, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wildlife officials are concerned about squirrel hunters shooting more than the daily limit because some of the squirrels have "warbles." A warble is a swelling under the hide of a squirrel caused by the larvae of a Warble fly.

Wildlife officials say some hunters, when they shoot a squirrel and find he is diseased, discard him and shoot another to take its place. This results in overshooting. Officials said that under one tree in Brush Creek State Forest, 16 diseased squirrels had been discarded.

A rare catch of an American eel has been made in Paint Creek (Ross County), the wildlife division reports. The catch was made in late September by Walter Stanley of Bainbridge on a trotline baited with a hellgrammite. The division said that eels are uncommon in Ohio today, although in pioneer times there were widely distributed and considered good food.

Residents in southwestern Ohio again will have the opportunity to hunt on 765 acres of land in Miami-town (Hamilton County), the Wildlife Council says.

The council has approved renewal of a lease agreement with four landowners for hunting between Nov. 15 and Jan. 2. The leases are for $1 an acre.

The wildlife division says five female wild turkeys have been stocked at Scioto Trail State Forest (Ross County) and four—two toms and two hens—at Pike State Forest (Pike County). This however does not complete the year's stocking program. Others will be released as they are available, the division said.

Radcliff, Zahard Lead Prairie Loop

Walt Zahard's 534 series and Dud Radcliff's 205 single score paced bowling in the Prairie Dogs league at Prairie Lanes this week.

Zahard rolls for Ankrom Lumber and Radcliff for the American Legion.

High team single game was tossed by Gam's, with a 930. Circleville Metal was high for the series with 2,609 pins.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A weak weather front moved into Ohio during Tuesday night, while high pressure continued to dominate the central and southern sections of the state.

The only weather associated with the front over the northern section was variable cloudiness, while clear skies prevailed over the south half.

Warmer temperatures were the rule early this morning, with readings in the 50s. Cleveland had 52, Dayton 53, Columbus 51, and Marietta 54.

The weather front may reach the central portion of the state today before becoming stationary, but little change in the ideal fall weather of the past couple days is expected.

Skies will be partly cloudy in the north and sunny in the south today, and except near Lake Erie—where a little cooler is expected—pleasantly warm conditions will prevail.

Tonight will be mostly fair in all sections, with temperatures in the 40s north and low 50s south.

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above normal. Normal high 65, low 43. Warm Thursday and Friday, turning cooler over weekend. Precipitation will average one-half to three-quarters of an inch as showers over the weekend.

SOUTHERN AND CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average 3 to 6 degrees above normal. Normal high 66, low 46. Little temperature change until turning cooler about Sunday. Precipitation will average one-quarter to one-half of an inch as showers Thursday night and Friday and again about Sunday.

Jets' Ball Park Fails Tax Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state board of tax appeals declined today in a 2-1 vote to exempt the 27-acre Columbus Jets baseball park from real estate taxes.

Club officials appealed to the board May 10 after Franklin County Auditor Fred C. Dunn said the operation does not qualify for exemption from 1960 taxes or remission of taxes and penalties for the 1956-59 period.

Back taxes totaling $28,796 are involved.

Nurse Is Killed

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A 61-year-old industrial nurse was killed Tuesday in a two-car collision on Ohio 18. Coroner David A. Belinky said Mrs. Harley Ramsey died of a crushed chest, but apparently had suffered a heart attack which caused her to lose control of her automobile. The car struck the curb and a sign post and then veered across the road into an oncoming car. Two persons in the other car were injured slightly.
